At the Lexi, community is at the heart of how we operate and our community, film-based programming is an essential part of our ethos as a cinema. This review outlines our community projects and activities from Sep to Nov 2025.

Our community work involves collaboration, long term partnerships and inviting expert organisations such as Into Film and Salusbury World to help shape our community work. We also produce accessible screenings in-house as part of our public programme, to ensure our main features are accessible to all. This includes baby-friendly screenings, hard of hearing captioned screenings, relaxed/autism-friendly screenings, and our senior film discussion group, Talking Pictures.

Outside of our public programme, we run free screenings for local schools (with IntoFilm), host women-only refugee screenings (with Salusbury World), and take part in an NHS Social Prescribing Pilot Project (with Kilburn Co-op) prescribing cinema tickets to local residents at risk of social isolation. We also run discount schemes for local nurseries and holiday clubs with cheap family tickets where accompanying support workers go free.

Our community programming is funded from our box office revenues but also from the generous support from local business such as Parlour, The Island and The Chamberlayne via our Love Local scheme, donations from Lexi customers who have opted to donate to our community programmes when they buy our tickets, and fundraising from the Kensal Tri group participating in the Blenheim Palace Triathlon.

Community Partners

Salisbury world

We're proud to have been working with this award-winning local refugee project offering vital support to refugee and migrant families. We work with them throughout the year on a range of activities, from a women-only refugee film club, to hosting film screenings during Refugee Week in June, and providing group screenings for kids as part of the charity's holiday club scheme.

Thanks to generous fundraising from the Kensal Tri team taking part in the Blenheim Palace Triathlon, we've been able to continue to provide free screenings and free popcorn to groups from Salisbury World.

Into Film

Into Film are an educational charity using film as an educational resource. We work with them each year during the Into Film Festival, hosting free film screenings to local schools for pupils aged between 5-19 year olds. All screenings are subtitled and we also host relaxed/autism-friendly screenings to ensure that everyone can access and enjoy the films.

Baby-Friendly Screenings

Part of our public programme, available to everyone

Our Baby-Friendly screenings allow parents, carers and family members to bring their baby to watch a film on a Monday morning, with appropriate adjustments to the cinema experience such as subtitles, lower sound volume, and better lighting, with baby-changing facilities available.

From September to November 2025, we programmed 12 baby-friendly screenings, with 181 total admissions.

Talking Pictures

Part of our public programme, open to seniors

On the first Monday afternoon of the month, we run a Talking Pictures screening which is open to the public for anyone over 60.

We screen a new movie from our main programme followed by an informal post-show discussion with a member of the Lexi team. The screenings are designed to encourage a sense of connection and community where attendees can meet new people through a shared love of film, and combat any feelings of social isolation.

From September to November we programmed 3 screening with a total of 33 admissions.

Into Film Screenings

Free accessible screenings for local schools

Into Film is a charity that puts film at the heart of the educational and personal development of children and young people aged 5-19 across the UK.

Every Winter and Spring, we host free film screenings as part of the Into Film Festival where local schools and home educators can sign up to watch films for free at participating cinemas.

In the Winter edition of the Into Film Festival we hosted 1 screening of Clueless which around 52 students and staff attended from different schools.

NHS Social Prescribing Project With Kilburn Co-Op

Free cinema tickets to participants

Social Prescribing is an approach that connects people to activities, groups, and services in their community to meet the practical, social and emotional needs that affect their health and wellbeing.

Working with a social prescribing link worker, we've been prescribing cinema tickets to local residents at risk of social isolation, aiming to prove the therapeutic value of the trip to your local cinema.

From September to November 2025 we issued 12 free tickets to local residents attending a matinee screening on a Monday. We also offered a free hot drink with every ticket.

Islamophobia Awareness Month: Brides + Q&A

Screening in collaboration with Brent Council

Following on from our screening of Fighters in July with Brent Council for Disabled People's Empowerment Month, in November we screened Brides for Islamophobia Awareness Month.

Tickets were £3 each and free for anyone who was unwaged, a carer or a student. The screening included an introduction from Brent Councillor Mili Patel and a post-film Q&A with actress Safiyya Ingar and producer Nicky Bentham.

67 people attended the event, with each attendee receiving a free bag of popcorn.

Comments from BIFA's Cinema of the Year Public Voting

"A social enterprise cinema that gives its profits to charity, a front of house run by local volunteers. A very unique place that does so much for the local community from running a film club for local refugee women, to free school screenings, it's much more than a cinema! The film programme is also great showing indie and foreign films to carefully curated seasons ."

"A special cinema that is at the heart of its community, run by local volunteers and giving its profits to charity, it's a unique cinema model that puts so much back into the community!"

"Their community outreach programmes, the fact all profits go to charity, and how cute the cinema is! I always have a lovely experience there, and love seeing all the cool panels, q&as and seasons they do. "

"Great selection of films, supports the community, and fantastic friendly volunteers and staff "

"Small (great for my autistic children), really nice screens/rooms, nice snack selection, easy transport route, lovely staff. "
