MAIN FEATURE

HIGH LIFE

Fearless French filmmaker Claire Denis pitches her first feature in English, a space odyssey of sorts, somewhere between Tarkovsky's pensive Solaris, and cult shocker Soylent Green. "The less you know about Denis's existential sci-fi odyssey, the more assaulting the ride. In brief, a monkish young man (Robert Pattinson) and an evil doctor (Juliette Binoche) are among a handful of prisoners sent to space to contemplate their crimes; an infant on board their spaceship is both a miracle and a chilling reminder." ★★★★★ Observer

POND LIFE

This Yorkshire village in 1994 is struggling to find a way forward, post mining. Rumours of a gigantic carp in the local pond spark excitement among the local youth, who make a crusade out of catching the mythic fish. "A young cast are pitch-perfect in this adaptation of Richard Cameron's play." ★★★★★ Observer

WOMAN AT WAR

"A subversive romp that splendidly overturns action-movie cliches, ...presenting its life-or-death struggles in thrillingly offbeat fashion." ★★★★★ Mark Kermode's Film of the Week

LFS: SATURDAY NIGHT AND SUNDAY MORNING + intro by actor Samuel West

"Albert Finney's performance is a defining one in British film culture." (BFI) We pay tribute to the mighty Albert Finney, who passed away this year, with the film and the performance that made his name.
