MAIN FEATURE

ALIEN: COVENANT

A spaceship is dispatched to colonise a far-off world. When they pick up what sounds like a recording of John Denver's "Take Me Home Country Road" coming from a nearby planet they decide to make an unscheduled landing, and as the pioneers start to explore their new Paradise they find perplexing signs that they might not be the first visitors. Before long, they are under attack... Michael Fassbender returns after Prometheus as a next-generation cyborg, and the humans in the cast include Noomi Rapace, Billy Crudup and a perennial favourite of ours, Guy Pearce. "Ridley Scott's 'Alien: Covenant' is a mad scientist film – arguably, one of the maddest. It's grandiose, exhilarating, vertiginously cynical and symphonically perverse." ★★★★★
